Letter of Recommendation

Every physician who applies for the HCA Healthcare Resident/Fellow Stipend Program must submit a formal letter of recommendation from someone at your current training program.

All letters must be typed on official program letterhead and include:

- The date you started your training
- The anticipated date you will complete your training
- The author's signature

The letter should be from a Program Director/Department Chair (or other faculty member) who knows you well enough to comment in depth on not only your academic performance, but also your personal qualities and their impact on your future career in medicine. Both items - your professional performance and your personal qualities - are equally important.

Letters should include information on how long the Program Director/Department Chair (or other faculty member) has known you and in what capacity, and how well they know you. They should also put their remarks about you into some kind of comparative context with other physicians they have supervised or for whom they have written letters.

Things such as work ethic, clinical competency, and surgical skills (if applicable) should also be included.

Along with the other pieces of the application packet, your letter of recommendation will be reviewed by a committee of HCA Healthcare leaders and carries significant weight in the stipend award process.

Vision Statement

Your vision statement should be a typed document which provides a detailed description of your professional and personal goals upon completion of your training.

Detailed information on why you chose a career in medicine, how you chose your medical specialty, what you hope to accomplish once you begin medical practice, personal/professional achievements that have impacted your personal/professional development, life experiences that have impacted your personal/professional development, and other related topics are all recommended for inclusion in your vision statement.

The HCA Healthcare Resident/Fellow Stipend Program is highly competitive with a strong group of applicants each quarter. A screening committee of HCA Healthcare leaders reviews each application and your vision statement will be reviewed in depth as a part of the committee's stipend selection process.
